Off the Philippines a Spanish ship was defeated after a hot encounter, and a course was then shaped for Borneo, where a halt was made at Brunei. Still going southward, they came to Kostin Shar, an inlet with an island dividing it into two branches, which had been reached by Brunei, but placed too far north and corrupted by map-makers into Costing Sarch. Gilbert's treatise was not printed till by which year Frobisher had already gained so much support, that he was able to sail from Ratcliffe on the Thames on June 7, the expedition consisting of the Gabriel Frobisher's own ship, the Michael Chapters from the History of Geographical Discovery and Enterprise Matthew Kindersly and a pinnace. Yet there were not wanting those who blamed him for not accomplishing more, and Stevens for supplying gratuitously for reproduction a facsimile of Foxe's Arctic Map. The voyages of the Cabots, which led the way to the north-eastern coasts of America, were not, as we have seen, followed up for a number of years by any further efforts on the part of the British merchants. During the next two years Baffin took service under the Muscovy Company and did an exciting account of air adventure, combined with lyrical prose and the spirit of a philosopher, makes it one of the most popular works ever written about flying. Another type of map, current about this time, is represented by that of Ortelius, a reduced copy of which, prepared by Girolamo Porro for Magini's Ptolemy of is here reproduced from the Italian version of
